NEWPORTVILLE.

A surprise party was given Misses Ella and Abbie Dunlap at their home on Saturday evening.

Howard Parr and Daniel Potter and family, of West Bristol township, were visiting in this place on Sunday.

Miss Alice Sweeney, of Frankford, and Mrs. Sarah Kennedy, of Kensington, were visiting their brother-in-law, William Webster, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert O'Brien and family, of Frankford, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Zeeald, of Philadelphia, were visiting Mrs. Clara McDonough on Saturday and Sunday.

BEFORE THE FOOT-LIGHTS.

The serio-comic drama being acted at the present time by the company of half caste political actors of the Edwards and Rice fusion combine fails to attract large and paying audiences, notwithstanding the gushing and agonizing roles of the chief dramatic personal, who in decollette costume and wigs of tangled hair in imitation of dishevelled tresses, as representing two of the smart set found wandering in distress having at the close of day reached the shores of the ocean. "Now when the sun in slowly dying splendor sinks, sending crimson smiles across the sea" and beg with passionate appeal the great leviathans of the democratic deep to come forth on the dry land and save them.

The stage setting is somewhat attractive to wanderers by the way-side used to one-horse shows, the otherwise disagreeable and grotesque personal of the combine is rouged up and dressed up to date but all the pains they have taken fails to show them to the manner born, and the verdict of sensible, honorable men is expressed in the emphatic and universal opinion. "What wretched shows are these!"

The old times Democrats built of sterling suff and fighting for what they sincerely believe are righteous principles of government, command our respect and esteem while we differ from them in our sentiments and opinions. And the advent of these shameful traitors from the Republicans party ready with fusion to destroy the heretofore invincible integrity and cast a blot upon the honor of the Jeffersonian Democracy is viewed with disgust and resented with righteous wrath by these gentlemen. Edwards and Rice are too much for them. It is too much to ask them to swallow this nauseating fusion mixture. And they will hold to strict account the traitor leaders in their own party who would sacrifice the honorable pride and spirit of the renowned Democratic phalanx of this county for two such Republican renegades and political trimmers.

In despite of the serio comic drama, the old-time Democrats who never voted the Republican ticket, will not now stultify and disgrace themselves for the sake of the love lorn looks and plaintive howls of Rice and Edwards, by voting that nonentity a fusion ticket. * * * *

W. C. T. U. Convention.

Bucks county W. C. T. U held its eighteenth annual convention in Bethel Evangelical Church, Perkasie, on Wednesday, September 17th. The president, Mrs. Emma D. Eyre, called for order at 10.15 a. m., and led the devotional exercises. Ellen Longshore, recording secretary, read the minutes of the convention held in Wycombe last April. The committees on resolutions, courtesies and grouping of unions were appointed. The convention was then cordially welcomed to Perkasie by Miss Anita Cordero, president of the Perkasie Y. Miss Rachel Carver of Fallsington, and Miss Mary Walter, of Warrington, responded with loving and sympathetic words. Mrs. Lavina W. Blackfan gave an informal report of the finances there being a balance on hand of $192.37. Miss Lillian Brooks, corresponding secretary, read her annual report, preparatory to sending it to the State secretary.

Bucks county has twenty-one W's and three Y's with an active membership of 595 and honorary 40. Seven unions were reported as engaged in the flower mission work; 112 columns of temperance reading ave appeared in the Bucks county newspapers this year; the teaching of scientific temperance truths is being pushed in our schools and the superintendent said that the curse of intemperance which each year destroys more human beings than the terrific eruption of Mount Pelee, should and would be met by an intelligent educated citizenship. 5213 pages of temperance literature, 81 papers, 225 leaflets and 12 magazines were reported distributed by literature superintendents. 335 children are now enrolled as Temperance Light Bearers, having acces to seven circulating libraries containing 129 volumes.

The L. T. L's have distributed 43 pages of literature, held seven medal contests, observed 22 red letter days and spent $122.47 in their work.

Officers for next year are: President, Emma D. Eyre; recording secretary, M. Ellen Longshore; corresponding secretary, Lillian R. Brooks; treasurer, Lavina W. Blackfan; Vice president-at-large, Elizabeth Lloyd.

Edna C. Doane, of Wrightstown, was appointed superintendent of anti narcotics, Mrs. Sara B. Smith having resigned. All other superintendents were reappointed. Each local union is asked to hold its annual business meeting during the first week of August so that reports may be sent in on time. Basket lunch was adopted as the mode of entertainment in future. Miss Belle Kearney, of Flora, Miss., spoke forcibly in the evening, presenting the needs of the temperance and the great progress already made.

Beautiful music was furnished at all the sessions by members of Perkasie Y. The pastor of the church, Rev. Henry Wentz, was present at all the sessions and assisted materially. The next convention will be held in New Hope in April, 1903.

Recovered Speech and Hearing.

Messrs. Ely Bros.:—I commenced using your Cream Balm about two years ago for catarrh. My voice was somewhat thick and my hearing was dull. My hearing has been fully restored and my speech has become quite clear. I am a teacher in our town. L. G. Bown, Granger, O.

The Balm does not irritate or cause sneezing. Sold by druggists at 50cts. or mailed by Ely Brothers 56, Warren Street, New York.

WEST BRISTOL TOWNSHIP.

Frank Jenks was a visitor at McKee City on Sunday last.

On Saturday night last the trolley struck and killed a man at Cornwells.

George Brownhall, wife and son were guests of Mrs. Jaspor Lorimer on Sunday last.

Mrs. Amanda Ford and family were guests of Mrs. William Lemons on Saturday last.

About $40 was cleared at the lawn fete recently held at the Y. M. C. A. hall at Bidgewater.

Tommy Murray, the flagman at Croydon station, was recently presented with a fine box of Jews' harps.

Abe Snyder, on the farm of Alexander Christy, has the largest crop of potatoes in West Bristol township.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Baker, of "Owlsville," were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Lorimer one evening last week.

Lambert D. Hunt, who has been seriously ill at the home of his son-in-law, William P. Betz, is now convalescing.

Mrs. Henry Jones led the Christian Endeavor meeting at the Eddington Presbyterian Church on Sunday evening last.

Miss Etta McKinley came home from the State Normal School to attend the funeral of her friend, Miss Gertrude Paist.

Wedding bells will no doubt be ringing loud in the vicinity of McKee City and the river road as there are two couples that seem to be in the humor.

Mrs. J. B. Weymans, who has been confined to her bed for the last two weeks, is steadily improving, much to the delight of her many friends who will be pleased to see her out again.

Owing to his large increasing business, Jasper Lorimer has had a long distance telephone established at his residence, thus putting him in direct communication with Philadelphia.

Mrs. Maggie Garrison, of Pitman Grove, N. J., and Miss Laura Smith of Hulmeville, in company with Miss Mary Ann Vandegrift, spent Sunday afternoon with friends in Bridgewater.

Miss Lizzie Lorimer has a beautiful new upright piano and the sweet strains of the instrument will no doubt be wafted on the soft breezes from the river to all parts of the immediate neighborhood.

The suit for damages against P. R. R. employes by the Bridgewater and Bristol trolley employes was continued until the November term of court and the bail increased from $1,000 to $3,900, or $300 each.

Wire thieves were very busy on the Bristol and Bridgewater Trolley Company one night last week. A farmer coming home from market saw them at work and notified headquarters. After the trolley men arrived they dispersed the thieves without any captures.

Mrs. Gertrude Paist, of Cornwells, passed away after a lingering illness of typhoid fever and spinal meningitis on Thursday. She was buried at Westminster cemetery on Sunday last. The bereaved family have the heartfelt sympathy of many friends.

The highest boat that was hunting the toothsome rail birds on the Neshaminy flats on Saturday last was a young man of about eighteen summers who killed one "fly-up-the-creek," one wounded water rail, after he had shot four times at it, two bumble bees and a butterfly that were seeking the sweets from the yellow flowers.

Miss Florence Williams gave a watermelon party on Saturday evening last to her many friends. Considering the inclement weather quite a large gathering assembled and numerous games were indulged in. The participants represented Bristol, McKee City, Langhorne, Emilie and the quaint old village of Newportville. The guests all departed at an early hour expressing their appreciation of spending a delightful evening.

One of the slickest tricks the horse thieves have perpetrated in this vicinity is the one played on ex-Sheriff Purdy, of the Red Lion Inn, at Torresdale. After stealing a horse and harness from George Ebert, of Eddington, the robbers proceeded to the Red Lion and called the landlord out of bed and told him they had broken down and wanted to borrow his store wagon to proceed with their load. The request was granted by the kind-hearted old man and he has been looking for them ever since. He declares he will have to be awake at least an hour the next time and think it over when his supposed neighbors want to borrow another wagon.

PENN'S MANOR.

The golden rod is in full bloom.

Potatoes are moving at 45 and 50 cents per bushel on board cars at the station.

Farmers are not in much of a hurry in cutting their corn, only a few have made a start.

Several of the Manor folks took a business trip to Philadelphia on Monday last from this wharf.

There was not a very large crowd at the lunch social in the chapel on Saturday evening last though those present expressed of having spent a very pleasant evening and a fair little sum was realized for the benefit of the chapel.

On account of the threatening weather only a small gathering had assembled in the chapel on last Sunday evening to listen to the news of the gospel proclaimed by our faithful pastor, Rev. A. S. Pittenger.

After a long lingering illness, with much suffering, our esteemed neighbor, Mrs. Edward Scarborough, departed this life on Monday morning at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Howell, Morrisville. She leaves behind a host of sincere friends in the Manor, who extend a sympathetic hand to her husband and parents in special, and all connected in this their great sorrow and bereavement. When in good health she was an active member of the C. E. S. and always took an active part and interest in all things for the prosperity of the chapel. She will be missed by all her social acquaintances. The funeral will be held from the residence of her parents and the remains laid at rest in the cemetery of Morrisville this afternoon at 2 p. m.

There are some women who seem to be perennially youthful. The grown daughters are companions as well as children, and the color of the mother's cheeks, the brightness in her eyes, the roundness of her form, all speak of abounding health. What is her secret? She is at the middle age of life when so many women are worn, wasted and faded, and yet time has only ripened her charms. The secret of this matronly health and beauty may be told in the brief phrase, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. The general health of woman is so intimately related to the local health of the delicate womanly organs, that when these are diseased, the whole body must suffer. "Favorite Prescription" dries the debilitating drains, heals ulceration and inflammation, cures female weakness and imparts to the delicate female organs natural vigor and vitality. Women who have lost their health and their beauty have been made "robust and rosy cheeked" by the use of this marvelous medicine.

News of the County

Special Correspondence from Near-by Towns

DOYLESTOWN.

The title of the Ballot Reform Party in Bucks is now the exclusive property of Willis Wall, Thomas Ross, James Barrett, former Sheriff Beans and Edwin M. Yerkes, all Democratic leaders in their way. Nobody cares to dispute the proprietorship and what these good Democrats will do with it remains to be seen. Members of opposing factions they have at last got together in this matter, which is encouraging.

The reunion of the survivors of the 104th Pennsylvania Volunteers and Durell's Battery, which took place on Thursday last was a pleasant event. More members of the associations attended than is usually the case and a large audience assembled to hear the address of welcome delivered by Hon. Robert M. Yardley. The veterans spent a pleasant day here and every citizen sought in some way to do them honor. Fifteen members of the regiment have passed away in the last year and the ranks are growing thin.

About the weakest thing in this section of the county just now is that fusion movement. It has already reached the wabbly stage and it is safe to say that if either Rice or Edwards stand were they stood three weeks ago neither would touch the project. Democrats and Republicans alike take no stock in it. They have suddenly realized that here are two men, one of whom as held office continuously since 1894, actually complaining that they are the victims of "bossism" and asking the Republican party in Bucks to surrender control of the county officers and jeopardize the election of their Congressional candidate merely because two individuals wish to regain office. The proposition is regarded as too absurd for serious discussion. Old campaigners say they cannot recollect an instance where a Repulican actually in office was at the same time a candidate on another party ticket. But this is the case with Rice and Edwards. If a special session of the Legislature were called today they would be in attendance as Republicans and at the same time Democratic candidates for re-election. As reports come in from the various districts there is evidence that many Democrats will not support them. This is not campaign talk but a fact. Democrats are asking why they should support men conspicuously arrayed against their own party and now holding offices acquired through the defeat of their own candidates. To whole thing promises to fizzle out before the campaign is fairly under way. In both parties the fusion enthusiasm is dying out while Republicans are more determined than ever to win this fight. This is all owing to the political records of the fusion candidates. Had they never sought office and had they been consistently anti-Quay and against the county leadership, they might have secured pretty influential support in some instances, but having held office under like conditions and holding office today, to say nothing of their letters of withdrawal in which they condemn the men who suported them in the past, they will receive little consideration even at the hands of independent Republicans. Fusion in Bucks is already a dead issue.

COURT PROCEEDINGS.

Criminal court began on Monday with a larger list of cases than usual, owing to the long time intervening between terms. There were about 50 cases on District Attorney Shelly's list. In his charge to the Grand Jury Judge Yerkes referred to the automobile nuisance and informed the Jury that it was within their province to take note of violations of the law such as speeding machines on the public highways. In the Croydon riot cases the court raise the bail from the lump sum of $1000 for 13 defendants to $300 in each case, or $3900 in all. The case will be tried at November term. The following defendants were tried during the week:

One of the interesting cases was that of Thomas Sullivan, one of the gang of tramp highwaymen, who have long been a nuisance about Morrisville. He pleaded guilty of highway robbery and resisting an officer and was sent to the Penitentiary for 23 years and fined $2000. The sentence is generally approved as it will break up the criminal gang in that locality. Sullivan took his punishment in a cool and impudent manner.

William Anderson, colored, was sent to the Penitentiary for three years for stealing a watch and other property of Catharine Rogers, of Warrington.

Frank Starks, colored, went to the Penitentiary for three years and six months for assaulting and stabbing Charles Evans and Samuel Dougherty, also colored, of Morrisvile.

For stealing a pair of trousers James Adams, of Milford, will spend ten days in the county jail. The prosecutor was Edwin Beidler, of Milford.

Levi Markley, who stole the horse and carriage of Thomas Kelly, of Buckingham, while the team was in Doylestown, was sent to the Penitentiary for three years.

Edward Carr pleaded guilty to the theft of property belonging to former Recorder Wright, of Bristol, and was sent to the county jail for eight months.

David Ruth confessed having passed a worthless check upon Joseph Windler, of Springfield, and he will spend one year in the county jail.

John Moyer, a vagrant, was sent to jail for one year.

Adam Loebsack, of Bristol, was directed to pay the costs in an assault and battery case in which his wife was prosecutrix.

Stephen Clicka, aged 9 years, pleaded guilty to the theft of $50 and was sent to the House of Employment.

Sentence was suspended in the case of Mat. Gantz, of Morrisville, who pleaded guilty to assault and battery upon Louis Conolly. The latter was held in $300 bonds to answer the charge of selling liquor to persons of known intemperate haits and keeping a disorderly house.

Costs were divided between Richard Johnson, of Dolington, colored, and his son, who charged him with assault.

Albert Westpy and Bella Westpy, of Bristol, the former charged with resisting an officer and the latter with nuisance, were convicted. The husband was sent to the county jail for one year and six months and the wife for one year.

Charles Beckett, an aged colored criminal, who has been before the court on three occasions, was sent to the Penitentiary for eight years for robbery committed at the house of William Brown, at Bridgewater.

William Hapkins, colored, was sent to the county jail for one year for larcency. He pleaded guilty.

David Cornell, a demented resident of Doylestown, who sought to shoot Mrs. Linford Rake some time in July under the impression that she was his faithless wife, pleaded guilty. Sentence was suspended for the present.

Among the matters before the court was information concerning a bad road in Bensalem and the practice of conducting pigeon shooting in Bristol township on Sunday. The charges will be investigated.

In the cases of the Commonwealth vs. Katie Sofran and Commonwealth vs. Annie Sofran and Commonwealth vs. Morris Weisblatt, of Bristol, all charged with assault and battery, the testimony was so involved that the jury rendered a verdict of not guilty in the three cases, placing the costs in two cases upon Weisblatt and in one case upon Annie Sofran.

Commonwealth vs. Harvey Foster, charged with destroying red lanterns of the Philadelphia, Trenton and Bristol Railway Co., the jury convicted the defendant, who was sentenced to pay costs and undergo imprisonment in the county jail for five days.

William Smith, of Bristol, charged with larceny of vegetables belonging to William H. Ackerman, was acquitted, prosecutor to pay costs.

John J. Madden, of Bristol, charged with assault and battery upon John C. Brown; verdict, not guilty; costs equally divided.

The Grand Jury ignored the indictment against John T. Maher, of Morrisville, furnishing liquor to a person of known intemperate habits and on Sunday.

TULLYTOWN.

The health of Watson Harper is much improved.

A brick sidewalk has been laid by the borough from Mr. Lovett's to Mr. Johnson's.

Potato buyers are on hand now, the latest price offered being fifty cents per bushel. The potatoes are generally shipped in bulk no bags being used.

All are getting ready for a pleasant time at the Trenton Fair next week. Oliver Harper, the veteran prize potato grower, showed the correspondent the premium cards he won in past years for his big potatoes. He has thirteen premiums.

The store which Harry Moon will occupy in the near future, which building is directly opposite his present place of business, is being greatly improved. The cellar floors have been cemented, a new porch built, a new shingle roof put on and the interior remodeled.

The steamboat wharf has had very little repairing since the freshet left it a wreck last spring. The Springfield has been stopping regularly but the condition of the wharf would not permit the handling of much heavy freight there. The directors of the wharf company have not been able to come to any agreement for the improvement of their property which fact has probably caused bidders for the wharf stock to come around. It is thought the company owning the Springfield would like to acquire sufficient holdings to control the wharf company but thus far all efforts have failed to dislodge any stock.

Agent Joshua H. Cooper gave an exhibition trial of a corn shocker at the home of David Satterthwaite. The machine is drawn by two horses and is constructed so as to cut the corn in rows, shock it on the machine and deliver the shock to the ground properly set up and tied. For this delivering of the shock there is a derrick which raises the corn from the machine platform then swings it around to the side and sets it down. while the windlasses of the derrick are being operated the machine has to be at a standstill. The corn is not tied up in bundles. The trial was not altogether satisfactory to Mr. Cooper for although the machine did the work it did not do it very neatly. The corn was green and heavy and during the process it went through on the machine it was much broken up.

This borough now promises to become a centre for the shipment of moulding sand. Much of the property here, especially in that section northwest of the canal, is underlaid with rich stratas of this useful earth. The pioneer in the business was the late John Burton, who delivered sand in canal boats long before the time of the Civil War, the sand then being taken from the place now held by Charles Ashton. After the war, John Paxson, now of Philadelphia, but once a resident of this town, bought the business from John Burton. The local agent at the present time is Jacob Davis, who has charge of the farm of D. J. Matlack, from which farm Mr. Davis hauls his sand for the Paxson Company delivering it for shipment to the cars of the Pennsylvania Railroad. But now a new firm is coming into prominence. Henry Brennan, with his two active sons, Michael and Thomas, recently opened sand pits on their farm at the north end of the town proper. They find there several grades of valuable sand, in fact the whole proprety—they discovered by boring down—is underlaid with deep stratas of this moulding substance. Mr. Brennan and his sons are loading several cars per week now but next spring they will go into the business extensively. They will acquire possession of different sand farms in the east from which they hope to make shipments to all the leading foundries in the country. To open a sand pit you have to shovel off about a foot of the top soil, then you strike sand which sand may be a strata five feet in depth. Sand is clean to work in, for those who shovel it into wagons and then from the wagons into the cars do not get their clothing soiled in the least.

Marketing Celery.

From 20,000 to 30,000 plants are set on an acre. In sixty days plants are large enough to blanch for the early market. Pine boards, one foot wide, one inch thick, sixteen feet long, dressed on both sides, are place against celery on both sides of the plants, and are held in an upright position by a piece of wire bent at each end so as to form a double hook. The lumber excludes the light, induces the heart of the plant to grow rapidly and blanch at the same time, and in 15 or 18 days after lumber is put up the celery is ready to market. Lumber induces a taller growth, but the flavor is not quite as fine as that blanched with earth. The lumber is safer for early blanching for the reason that the disease commonly called rust is liable to attack the stalks if earth is used before September 10. Earthing up becomes a necessity after September 20, as frost may appear any night after this date and damage the crop where the lumber is used, while that with the earth up to it is protected.

In harvesting the crop, leading growers have washing machines to clean and cool the stalks which adds to its keeping qualities. During transit and delivery from market to the consumer great pains are taken to sort and grade the differen sized roots, bind them into bunches and pack them into neat new packages made for the purpose. Large quantities are marketed from September 20 to October 20, to save the expense of storing in the winter house, as the loss in those is liable to be great from evaporation, diseases and consequent decay. If celery is to be kept for winter use it must be cool and moist. It is usually set out again so the roots take sufficient hold upon the earth to prevent the plant from wilting. For home use the plants may be set in an old shoe case in which there are a few inches of earth in the bottom—the top of the box being left uncovered. If the box is as deep as the height of the celery, holes should be made in the side of the box to admit of ventilation. The box may now be kept in a cool cellar taking similar precautions to ventilation. For market celery may be set in trenches. Two boards are leaned over the plants to form a gable root and as cold weather approaches straw is thown on top. In large celery areas, however, the crop is now stored in sheds or cellars made for the purpose. In these sheds the celery is planted out and the temperature is kept above hard frost.—"Rube" Gruley, in the Perkasie News.

People are a deal more for keeping up appearances than for keeping up realities.

Mrs. William Kitchen and sons, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. George LaCompt and sons, of Attleboro, spent Saturday with Mrs. LaCompt's parents, Mr and Mrs. Henry Douglass.

Owing to the scarcity of coal, Joseph Canby still continues furnishing wood to a number of families. There was one load of coal delivered in our town on Saturday—the first for some time—the price being $12 per ton.

John Edward Witham, who had been confined to his bed for the past few weeks, died on Monday morning. The funeral services were held at Grace Church on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mr. Witham leaves a wife and two daughters, who have the sympathy of their neighbors and friends in their bereavement.

On Wednesday night of last week horse thieves visited the stable of George Elbert near Eddington and stole a horse and left an old gray one in the place of the one they took. From there they went on to the Red Lion Hotel where they told a story about a man being broken down and they wanted to borrow a wagon and harness to go on. After they had left the people at the hotel realized that they had been robbed. At last account the horse thieves are still going. Mr. Elbert is a member of the Hulmeville Horse Co.

Miss Bicking entertained a number of friends at a ping-pong party Wednesday evening; also at a watermelon party Saturday evening. Miss Hibbs entertained the same guests Friday evening by giving a progressive novelty party. Among the guests were Misses Markgraf, Lawrence, Manning, Hibbs, Bicking. LaRue, of Hulmeville; Miss Hibbs, of Eden; Miss Ayres, of Newtown; Miss Potts, of Trenton; Messrs. Smith, Heyser, Davidson, of Brooklyn; Wood, Dyer, Smith, Elms, Prentzel, of Germantown, and Mr. Steeble, of Eden.

The even social held in the I. O. O. F. lodge room on Tuesday, September 23, by the Daughters of Rebekah in honor of the 50th anniversary of the founding of their order, was greatly enjoyed by all present. The lodge room was well filled by the members of the order and their friends. The ladies deserve a great deal of credit for the interesting programme which they arranged for the occasion. The following is the programme: Music, orchestra; recitation, Miss Nellie Praul; vocal solo, Miss Florence Afflerbach; reading, Miss Lydia Tyson; piano duet, Misses Goheen and Bachofer; address, William J. Dixon, Jr.; music, orchestra; recitation, Miss Beitler; vocal solo, Miss Mabel Afflerbach; violin solo, Frank Schneider, Jr.; recitation, Miss Mabel Sheppard; piano trio, Misses Fannie and Alice Harrison and Marian W. Tilton; remarks, James P. Hellings; remarks, Rev. R. J. MacBeth; vocal solo, Mrs. J. C. Everitt; music, orchestra; benediction, Rev. R. J. MacBeth.

An Autumn Tour via Pennsylvania Railroad.

Rate covering transportation, carriage drives, hotel accommodations, and all necessary expenses during the entire trip, $85 from New York and Newark, $83 from Philadelphia, and proportionate rates from other points. The party will be under the direction of an experienced Pennsylvania tourist agent and a chaperon. An entire day will be spent on the Gettysburg battle field, another day at Chattanooga and Lookout Mountain, two days at Ashville, and two days at Washington.

Apply to Ticket Agents, Tourist Agent, 1196 Broadway, New York, or George W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Philadelphia.

YARDLEY.

W. H. McCormick was a visitor here his week.

Miss Helen Cadwallader has returned from a trip to Asbury Park.

A. J. Cadwallader will take a trip south this week where he will spend some time in hunting.

Frank Robinson has been appointed collector of delinquent taxes of Lower Makefield township.

Frederick Goodnow is critically ill at his home on Delaware avenue and has been so for some time past.

James Shanahan is having a new roof put on his house. The work is being done by Jesse H. Smith and brother.

A number of the residents of this place were in attendance at the entertainment given at the Bucks County Country Club on Tuesday evening.

The Misses Bunting, who have been spending some time with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Knowles, have returned to their homes in Newtown.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Brokaw, who have been the guests of Mrs. Katherine Nickleson during the summer, will return to their home in Trenton this week.

Miss Sarah Warner Twining will act as bridesmaid at the wedding of Miss Sarah C. Eastburn to George W. Balderston, on Wednesday afternoon at the Friends' Meeting House, Philadelphia.

A large number of men are employed on the pike to Newtown, constructing a telephone line for the Delaware and Atlantic Telephone Co. A number of the workmen are boarding at different places in Yardley.

John H. McCormick is having a number of improvements made to his property. The house is being re-roofed new outbuildings being built and a dam constructed for the formation of a lake for the ducks.

The old wooden bridge that spans the Delaware at Yardley is being overhauled in general at present. The roof is being repaired and a new floor will be laid the length of the structure. B. F. Livezey has charge of the work. This bridge has stood the wear and tear of time very well and the spring floods have taxed it to its utmost.

John Rogers will be tried at this term of court for a charge of appropriating several articles that did not belong to him when he left the residence of John McCormick. Rogers was arrested about a week ago by John Martin and sent to jail by 'Squire Linton, of Morrisville, in default of bail. He has since been released by furnishing bail to the Doylestown authorities.

This week John Martin will be tried at Doylestown for perjury. This charge was brought by George Craig in connection with the arrest of his son for being implicated in the quiet little game that was taking place down on the towpath the Sunday that Mr. Martin surprised the youthful gamblers, and arrested several of them. The youths will also be tried at this court, several of them having gone to Doylestown on Monday.

LOWER BENSALEM.

Dr. and Mrs. Dager returned to Philadelphia last week.

Miss Bartine was the guest of Miss Reynolds on Tuesday evening.

Miss Josephine Johnson spent Sunday at the home of her sister, Mrs. Elwood Peters.

A very pleasant evening was spent at the Y. M. C. A. hall on Tuesday evening of last week.

Rev. and Mrs. E. R. Simons, of Warfordsburg, Pa., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. William Simons.

Mr. and Mrs. Peters, of Philadelphia, were visiting the Misses Johnson on Wednesday afternoon.

Several members of the Siloam M. E. Church have been spending a few days along the Neshaminy creek.

The Y. P. S. C. E., of the Eddington Presbyterian Church, was fairly well attended Sunday evening. Several of the members of the Siloam M. E. Church wrre present.

Miss Anna Gertrude Paist died Friday morning after a few weeks' illness of typhoid fever. Miss Paist will be greatly missed from the community, having been an active member in the societies connected with the Eddington Presyterian and the Cornwells M. E. Churches. The family have the sympathies of their friends in their sad bereavement.

The Variety Supper, last Saturday evening on George Oryer's lawn for the M. E. Church was attended by a goodly number from Bristol, enough to fill a large two-horse wagon that met the trolley at Croydon so overflowing that a young man from the city sat over the tail board to keep the ladies from falling out. Owing to the threatening weather many were burdened with umbrellas and they were all of the Baptist persuasion still they have faith in water. All enjoyed the menu judging by the way chicken salad, hot cakes with honey, pumpkin pie and other good things disappeared. The prize orange tree was a great attraction and also very pretty. There were tables of confectionary, fancy and useful articles. All the arrangements were a credit to the management and no doubt was a success financially.

Too Late.

Each on his own strict line we move,
And some find death ere they find love;
So far apart their lives are thrown
From the twin soul which halves their own.

And sometimes, by still harder fate,
The lovers meet, but meet too late.
Thy heart is mine! True, true! ah, true!
Then, love, thy hand! Ah, no! Adieu!

Oil as Fuel.

As a steam producer it is claimed that fuel oil has no rival. Nothing else is burned on the railways of Central Asia, the Caucasus, and Southern Russia. The steamers on the Volga and Caspian Sea burn it, and it is used largely for the same purpose in manufacturing centres. "As a fuel for steamships oil has this advantage over coal," writes an American expert, "it can be carried as ballast, thereby occupying a space that is as a rule wasted. Coal must be carried in bunkers accessible to the engines, but oil can be pumped like water from any part of the ship. A considerable portion of the heat value of coal goes off in smoke and cinders, while the entire heat value of oil is obtained. This is the reason that practical results from marine, locomotive, and stationary boilers are more favorable to oil than the comparative calorimetric tests in the labratory. The latter show that one ton of steam coal contains as much heat as four barrels of fuel oil, but the practical result in the fire box prove that three and a half barrels of oil are equal to one ton of the average steam coal."

Luscious old wines from the Speer's Oporto Grape Vineyards Passaic, N. J., are largely being ordered by families in London, Dresden and Paris, who regard them as superior to most of the products of Europe.

When alone we have our thoughts to watch, in our families our tempers, in society our tongues.

CONCERNING FUSION IN BUCKS.

The burden of the complaint of Messrs. Rice and Edwards, who have been placed on the Democratic Assembly ticket by Messrs. Ashor Anders, Willis Wall and James Barrett, of Doylestown; George D. Fox, of Nockamixon, and Benjamin S Johnson, of Bristol, is that they were prevented from receiving a Republican nomination by Messrs. Yardley, Gilkeson and Grundy. The puerile plea advanced in support of their actions in deserting the party that has so signally honored them will hardly be favorably considered by fair-minded men. For eight years Mr. Rice has been a member of the State Legislature. Three times he has gone before a Republican convention and been nominated by the Republicans, and thrice has he received the party vote at the polls

Previous to the recent Republican county convention Senator Rice announced that he was not a candidate for re-nomination in the sense that he would engage in a canvass for the honor. He simply presented his name to the voters and invited their judgment, but, upon the eve of the convention without waiting for a public verdict upon his candidacy, he withdrew his name, giving reason for his precipitate action that THREE MEN WERE GOING TO PREVENT HIS NOMINATION! Now, isn't that a pretty fable?

A little reason applied to the case will prove that Senator Rice's assumption is an image that he has imbosomed. The Republican convention held on the first day of the present month is stated to have been the largest ever held in the history of the county, having been attended by at least 4000 members of the party At that convention every one of the districts were represented and EVERY DISTRICT CAST ITS VOTE FOR AARON! Where were Senator Rice's friends? There was not the slightest protest against the day's programme. The statesman from Solebury talks vaguely about free railroad fares and dinner tickets. Were his adherents purchased with such messes of pottage? Or, as soon as they learned that Mr Rice was not going to be a candidate, did an army of voters stay at home, sulk in their tents, and refuse to participate in making a long list of candidates for county offices, simply because Mr. Rice had declared that he would not be there that day asking for honors?

We think the grizzled Senator has made a heavy draft upon his imagination in measuring his personal popularity. During the campaign we failed to learn of any particular sentiment that demanded Senator Rice's renomination.

Piqued and probably suffering humiliation by the convention giving no consideration to his ambition, Mr Rice appealed to the Democrats to make room for him upon their ticket. Numerous conferences were held with the Democratic bosses and all of Rice's overtures for the Senatorial position were refused. Finally he agreed to accept a place on the Assembly ticket; the Democratic nominee was pulled off and Rice stuck in his place.

* * *

The case of Frank G. Edwards, of Bristol, fusion candidate for the assembly, is very similar to that of Hampton W. Rice, of Solebury. Edwards has been a representative in the State Legislature for four years. Twice has he gone before a Republican convention and received the nominations and twice has he been loyally supported at the polls by the party. Last spring he announced that he was a Republican candidate for the Senatorial nomination. After making his announcement, Mr Edwards was not seen or heard of in the county. Owing to business enterprises in which he was engaged, his time was spent in Philadelphia and Cape May and his Bristol home was abandoned. His campaign was utterly neglected and not the slightest effort was made by anyone in the interest of his candidacy. It became a derelict upon the political sea. Yet at the eleventh hour, the jovial Captain sent a letter to the Republican County Chairman with instructions to have it read before the convention in which he withdrew his name as a candidate for the Senatorship. Captain Edwards, too, like Senator Rice, spun a yarn about a clique of self-appointed leaders plotting his political ruin, and not wishing to enter a fight for the nomination would not endure the test. Edwards was a Senatorial candidate, and, with the words still hot upon his lips in condemnation of what he was pleased to call a "Hotel Walton conference," stepped into the Hotel Vendig and was handed out a place on the Democratic Assembly ticket!

There is no principle in such politics. 'Tis anything to win, and such actions will NOT be supported by the free and intelligent voters of Bucks county. These men have been greatly honored by the Republicans of Bucks county, and now, when they have received all they can get out of the party, they turn around and try to do murder to that which gave them life. Every candidate on the Republican county ticket loyally supported and worked for the election of Messrs. Rice and Edwards in former campaigns, and, as a reward for such fidelity, the pair of ungrateful fusion candidates have promised the Democratic bosses to contribute enough funds and bring sufficient influences to bear to wreck the entire Republican county ticket.

"If there be a crime of deeper die than all the guilty train of human vices, 'tis ingratitude."

The prize of the fusion movement is the United States Senatorship. James M. Guffy, Democratic boss, millionaire, free silverite, free trader, and a subject of all the ills Democracy is heir to, is an aspirant for a seat in the United States Senate. Through his direct influence fusion was accomplished in Bucks county If Messrs Grim, Rice, Edwards and Zane are elected to the Legislature they will vote for Guffy for Senator, if the oil king remains a candidate, and Pennsylvania the greatest manufacturing state in the union will be represented in the Senate of the United States by an avowed enemy of protection providing the people of a sufficient number of counties are betrayed by the false apostles of reform

In withdrawing as Republican candidates for the Legislature, when grim defeat stared in their faces, Messrs. Rice and Edwards warranted their actions by claiming that free trains and free dinner tickets would be used and large sums of money spent in getting people to the convention in order to accomplish their defeat The moon has not waxed and waned so many times that the people have forgotten the convention of 1900 At that time special trains and trolleys were run to the county seat on convention day; free dinner tickets were provided the hungry and a monster parade wended its way from the Doylestown depot to the court yard So much money was reported to have been put into circulation that the instance be came the subject of a judicial deliverance to the Grand Jury Who paid the freight upon that occasion? Was it the "Big Four" or was it some of those who now complain that they had to withdraw because they could not "buck" a free train nor swallow a free dinner ticket? The voters know.

* * *

Bucks county has no ills for which it should be punished for political errors that may have been committed in other parts of the State. Is there anyone, who, with justice, can claim that the interests of the county and State would not be just as jealously guarded by Strauser as by Edwards, and by Gulick as by Rice, by Aaron as by Grim and by Cressman as by Zane? The Republican Legislative candidates are not unknown quantities. They are men of the highest reputations, popular and respected in their homes—honest men and Republicans.

At a session of one of the farmers' clubs Senator Hampton W. Rice, spoke strongly in favor of Chinese labor. Rice is fond of the Chinese, and it is current rumor that the Chinese love rice Reciprocity.

A Devery campaign is promised in Bristol by one of the talkative agents of the fusion reformers. The sign of the pump, however, will be eliminated. The Guffy and Ingersoll 'barrels' have been tapped and joy will be unconfined from now until November. We must have reform at any price

Now that Ingersoll has accepted the Democratic nomination for Congress, in this district, both the Republican and Democratic parties have able men for standard bearers, for this important office to the people. Both Mr. Wanger and Mr. Ingersoll are able men, lawyers and orators. This congressional district should be represented during the campaign with eloquence, intelligence and manly principles, says the Hatboro Journal.

Every year the conferree system of making district nominations causes irritation to the people of all parties This year in numerous Congressional districts there have been long contests with no apparent reason for them except that politicians might gain their own personal ends The sooner the conferree system is laid aside for some other plan which will come closer to the people, the better it will be for all concerned and it will be a long stride toward reform The system will have to go some of these days, and it will probably be replaced, as it ought to be, by representation in nominating conventions based on the party vote

Like the voice of the old Hebrew prophet thundering condemnation of wickedness in high places sounds that of Col Henry Watterson, of Kentucky. The Colonel is usually worthy of attention. He is now, to an extent. According to his charge the vulgar rich of New York are a bad lot. But there is no certainty that the general moral outlook is worse than usual. The great difference is that it has become the custom of the daily newspapers to make vice too large in the foreground and virtue too small in the distance. The American people even in notorious New York are not so utterly vile as the yellow journals imply. Is it in keeping with American principles to look to the rich for a standard of morality? There are good people as well as bad among the rich—but human history, as the founders of the republic viewed it, does not teach that an aristocracy founded on wealth can be safely relied upon for moral leadership. The only aristocracy is the aristocracy of virtue and ability—an aristocracy of character.

The excuse offered by Speaker Henderson in declining a renomination from the Third Iowa Congressional District has a peculiar flavor He claims the doctrine proclaimed by the Republican State platform jingles out of tune with his own opinions upon the subject of tariff revision. Now there is absolutely nothing in the Iowa platform which is inconsistent or incompatible with Republican principles or policies. The Iowans in convention, regarding prospective tariff legislation, declares for "such changes from time to time as may become advisable through the progress of our industries and their changing relations to the commerce of the world." They also demand "such modifications of the tariff schedules as may be required to prevent their affording shelter to monopoly." The Republicans that cannot stand upon that platform must, indeed, be of peculiar mould. The sentiment expressed is in direct line with the tenor of President McKinley's last speech made at Buffalo. President Roosevelt has delivered himself in the same vein and so have thousands of other good and true Republicans. Back of Mr. Henderson's decision is probably another motive which caused a casting about for a fire escape, Representative Cushman, of Washington, in a speech that was commented upon over the entire country, sounded a signal that undoubtedly caused alarm in the breast of Speaker Henderson. His leadership was threatened!

AN OPINION ON FUSION.

The placing of two discarded Republicans upon the Democratic ticket does not altogether suit the Democrats and there is rebellion all over the county. In the upper end districts, where Democratic votes are cast from principle, the action of a few bosses meeting in session at the Hotel Vendig in Philadelphia, and ordering off the ticket two worthy Democrats, nominated in convention, and substituting two Republican office holders, has stirred up great indignation. Among the conscientious anti-machine Republicans the fusion ticket is in disfavor, and from the districts which heretofore have been noted for independent voting, reports are received of a revulsion of sentiment and declarations to support the regular Republican ticket. The Doylestown Intelligencer prints the following as prevailing political sentiment:

An anti machine Republican who is not in favor of fusion and who does not believe the Democrats will be helped by the movement, said "The ticket cannot win and the fusionist may as well realize it now as later. In the first place there are a large number of Democrats who are opposed to it and who will not support the ticket in November. They say the claim that the Republican party is bossridden is no circumstance to the condition of the Democratic party as instanced in this action by the alleged leaders in Bucks county. The convention named one of the strongest tickets placed in the field for years, and the resolutions pledge the party to its support. A few men, however, got together and authorize the County Chairman to appoint a committee to meet a committee of the Union Party to consider the advisability of fusion, although the convention had taken no action in the matter. This committee is to decide upon the expediency of having a straight ticket or a moogrel, and the candidates are to bide by its decision. The committee, however, was bucked with friends of Grim. They comprised County Chairman Asher K. Anders, 'Squire Willis Wall, James Barrett, all of Doylestown, 'Squire George D. Fox, of Nockamixon, and Ben. Johnson, of Bristol.

At the meeting the Union Party men were given to understand that the head of the ticket must be a Democrat, and unless they waive all aspirations for the Senatorship fusion would be an impossibility. The deal is made and two of the best and strongest men in the Democratic party in the county, B. Frank Cope, of Buckingham, and Frank Hogeland, of Southampton, are shoved off the ticket to make room for two Republican office holders, who want to get even with the machine. If that is not the worst kind of bossism I don't understand the term. Of course Senator Rice will get a number of Republican votes, and Captain Edwards has a strong hold in the lower end, especially in Bristol, but there will be a large number of Democrats who will not vote the ticket, or at least the Legislative part of it, now you mark my words."

The unfortunate ending of the career of Mr. Fish of New York has been made the text from which to preach sermons on the 'vice and corruption" of the "smart set." We are all well aware that "vice and corruption' are not confined to any "set" "smart" or otherwise. That Sam Small's drunkenness while preaching temperance is no indication that the entire temperance movement is a false pretense. That because now and then a clergyman is discovered in disreputable conduct the whole body of clergy are wolves in sheeps' clothing Only hypocrisy—whether voiced by the clergy or otherwise—will pretend that "vice and corruption," have a special social position for they are everywhere, as frequent in the village circle as in the bustle of the—"smart" society. As to the late Mr. Fish, only ignorance would make him representative of the "smart set." He was a man who took little pleasure in the manner of life it leads and therefore not in sympathy with its ambitions. His earlier aspirations had been political rather than merely social, and, if his distressing fate is to be cruelly lugged in as a text for christain ministers to expatiate upon, it might be used as appropriately to point a moral of the dangers which surround the political path. The wide publicity cannot in any way inspire him who has come to a disgraceful end, but it causes great pain to the remaining members of a family. By so doing not a living soul profits. Topics of sermons of this sort must leave the impression to observing people as being most uncharitable. "Let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall."

President Roosevelt's tour through the west with the purpose of coming face to face with the people will have no small effect in obtaining for him the good will of his countrymen. It is manifest that the President's utterances have commended him to the favor of all Americans who like candid treatment of public subjects, and that popular respect for his patriotic purpose and sincerity of character will be distinctly increased There is a growing faith in not only his integrity but in his capacity and any thing like a belief that jobs and favoritism will at all times find in him a wholesome enemy. Just a little over a year since Theodore Roosevelt found himself suddenly confronted with the prospect of taking on the responsibilities of his great office, and since that time he has given frequent proof that he is a fearless, upright and clean-handed man, and, that he is trying his best to be a just one as well.

One of the active agents of the fusion movement last week made the assertion that there were barrels of coin in sight for campaign purposes, and that he, for one, if it were necessary, would stand in the neighborhood of the polls on election day with a "wad" of bills and "buy 'em as they came along." Coal is high; beef is up, so boys jump in and name your price.

Harry E. Grim, Esq., of Perkasie, may not be greater than his brother Webster, but as an orator he acknowledges no superior in Bucks. Mr. Grim has accepted an invitation from the Democratic State Committeee to accompany ex-Governor Pattison's party on a two weeks' tour of the State, beginning the first week in October.

Burlington all to the Good.

Burlington Gazette.

When it comes to showing up smallpox deaths and killings by cars, etc., Bristol may beat us some points, but when it comes to putting up cash, they are not in it with Burlington. The deposits in the Mechanics National Bank, Burlington, run $33,178.89 ahead of the deposits in the Farmers' National Bank, Bristol, in the last quarter.

It isn't always best to call things by their right names. A young gentleman called a coach dog a Dalmatian hound, and was informed by his fiancee that if he could not refrain from profanity in her presence they must henceforth be strangers.

The way to make a good reputation is to endeavor to be what you desire to appear.

THE FUSION CANDIDATES.

Doylestown Republican.

In 1894 Hampton W. Rice, now a fusion candidate for Assembly allied with Democracy in the effort to defeat the Republican party in this county, received the votes of EIGHT THOUSAND, FIVE HUNDRED AND SEVENTY-FOUR REPUBLICANS and was elected a REPUBLICAN MEMBER of the House of Representatives.

In 1896 Hampton W. Rice was re-elected as a REPUBLICAN member of the House by the votes of NINE THOUSAND, SIX HUNDRED AND TWENTY-THREE REPUBLICANS.

In 1898 Hampton W. Rice was elected as a REPUBLICAN MEMBER of the State Senate by the votes of SEVEN THOUSAND, NINE HUNDRED AND FORTY-EIGHT REPUBLICANS. Without making a canvass of the county and not entitled to the nomination under the district rotation rule, he asked to retain this office, and upon his request being refused by thousands of REPUBLICANS assembled in county convention, he has abandoneed his party and accepted a place on the Democratic ticket to aid the latter party in its effort to break the solid front of the Republican party in this county, imperil the election of a Republican Representative in Congress and a Republican United States Senator.

Read once more the record given above and say whether Hampton W. Rice, at this moment a REPUBLICAN OFFICEHOLDER, has been wronged by his party and its leaders.

In 1898 Frank G. Edwards, now a fusion candidate for Assembly allied with Democracy in the effort to defeat the Republican party in this county, received the votes of SEVEN THOUSAND, EIGHT HUNDRED AND NINETEEN REPUBLICANS and was elected a REPUBLICAN MEMBER of the House of Representatives.

In 1900 Frank G. Edwards was re-elected a REPUBLICAN member of the House by the votes of EIGHT THOUSAND, SIX HUNDRED AND NINETY-FIVE REPUBLICANS.

He coveted the position held by Rice and because the thousands of REPUBLICANS assembled in county convention preferred another REPUBLICAN he, too, has become a DEMOCRAT and would aid to defeat the county, State and Congressional ticket in Bucks. Unless they betray the Democratic party these fusion candidates are under moral obligations to vote for Pattison for Governor, Ingersoll for Congress and the whole Democratic county ticket. Will Republicans support them? Will Democrats trust them?

CHURCH NOTES

METHODIST.

Rally Day in the Sunday school will be celebrated on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 12.

Rev. E. E. Burriss, of Frankford, a former pastor of the Bristol church, will exchange pulpits with the local pastor, Rev. Theodore Stevens, on Sunday, October 19th.

A special feature by the church choir on next Sunday evening will be the rendition of a chorus entitled "Praise Ye the Mighty God," from the cantata "The Great Light," by Findley Lyon.

PRESBYTERIAN.

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be dispensed on Sabbath morning, October 5th, at 10.30 o'clock.

Christian Endeavor Society meeting Sunday at 7 p. m. Subject, "Missionary Heroes." Young people especially invited. All welcome.

The Sunday school will observe "Rally Day" exercises at 2.30 p. m. A special programme will be used. Parents and friends of the school especially invited.

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Bristol Church will meet Sunday after morning service to elect delegates to the silver anniversary at Abington Church, October 2.

"The Present Coal Crisis," or "The Cause and Cure of Strikes," will be Dr. Alison's subject at the Presbyterian Church on Sabbath evening at 7.45. He will also conduct services at 10.30 a. m.

Special preaching services will be held in the Presbyterian Church beginning on Wednesday evening October 1, at 8 o'clock The Rev. John Alison, of Deposit, N. Y., is expected to preach at every service. There will also be appropriate musical service.

A union meeting of the Woman's Home and Foreign Mission Societies of the Bristol congregation will be held on Friday, October 3, at 3.30 p. m., at the residence of Mrs. James M. Slack. It is hoped there will be a large attendance as business of importance has to be attended to.

Parents would do well to ponder well the following editorial paragraph from the St. Peter Herald. "Take off your hat to the good and faithful school teacher. She takes the fledgeing right from the homenest full of pouts and passions—an ungovernable little creature whose mother concedes that she sends him to school to get rid of him. This gentle lady, with an iron hand beneath a velvet glove, will take a whole car load of incipient anarchists, every one of them single-handed more than a match for parents, and at once put them in the way of being useful and upright citizens."

An exchange tells of a lady who decided to scare her husband, who was a hard drinker, so he would reform. To do this she procured the costume of a devil which she saw at a masquerade. The next time the erring spouse came home feeling happy, she quickly donned the costume, and as he opened the door she stepped forward and said in a sepulchral tone: "Come with me, I am the devil." The result rather startled her as she answer to her greetin was: "Zatso? Shake old boy, I'm your brother-in-law; I married your sister."

An artist overheard a countryman and his wife ridiculing his picture, which represented a farm scene. He was so indignant that he at last interposed with the remark:

"That painting is valued at a hundred pounds. Allow me to ask if you are familiar with works of art?"

"Not very familiar with art." replied the farmer; "but I know something about nature, young man. When you make a cow that gets up from the ground by putting her forefeet first, you do something that nature never did."

BASE BALL

BLOOMSDALE WINS CHAMPIONSHIP.

In one of the most exciting games of the season Bloomsdale defeated Good Will at Persimmon Park by a score of 8 to 7 on Saturday afternoon.

Manager David Landreth, of the Bloomsdale club has tried for several months to secure a game from the Good Will boys but was turned down repeatedly He was told several times that his team was a back number and not in the South Bristol boys' class. But when the two clubs got together the East Bristol bunch surprised everybody.

When the game was arranged it was decided that the team winning would be the champions.

Good Will took the lead in the first inning by scoring two runs.

In the third the Bloomsdale tied the score at two Good Will went to the fore by scoring another run.

In the fourth the Firemen scored another run.

In the fifth the Bloomsdale boys startled the crowd by scoring three runs, taking the lead by a score of 5 4

In the sixth Dave's bunch scored two more runs, score 7-4.

It looked blue for Good Will now but they did good work with the stick in the eighth and tied the score amidst great excitement.

In the ninth after one out, Waters secured a single, stole second and went to third on Thornton's out and scored on Dougherty's single

In Good Will's half of the ninth they got two men on bases and then the excitement was running high and only one out.

Barton was forced at third and Bloomsdale's hopes arose. D. Gallagher attempted to steal third and was an easy out, White to Thornton, and the game was over and Bloomsdale had startled all the sports of the town by proving they could win the championship from Good Will on the latter's grounds.

Callahan pitched good ball and was supported well except in the fifth and six innings when Bloomsdale made enough good clean hits to win the game.

On the other hand Bunting kept the Good Wills well in hand and when hits meant runs was well supported.

Snyder's playing of first base and D. Gallagher's catching were the features of the Good Will team

Allen's batting was one of the greatest features of the game, three singles, a two-bagger and a three bagger out of five times at bat.

Dougherty caught a difficult fly and his error was a hard chance. The score.

INFIELD HITS.

Bunting kept the hits well scattered.

Callahan's curves were easy for Allen Thornton put up a great game at third.

"Doc" Snyder accepted eleven chances without an error.

Those postoffice clerks will have to 'go 'way back and sit down."

Dugan played a fine game at second, his two errors were hard chances.

Wonder if Good Will still thinks Bloomsdale is a back number?

Waters only had one chance in centre field and as usual it was a hard one.

Landreth put up a good game at first accepting eight out of nine chances.

Britton put up an excellent game at short stop, making several good stops.

Rue's trick for a double play failed. The umpire saw that he dropped the ball purposely.

Quinn made a great stop of D. Gallagher's wild throw to catch a runner napping at third.

Callahan surprised the fans by hitting the ball over the right fielder's head for three sacks.

In attempting to slide for second base McEuen stood on his head and was an easy out for Dugan.

Dougherty had two chances out in right field. Both were very hard and he dropped one after a long run.

Manager Landreth has entered his champion team in the great parade in Philadelphia on Monday night.

White played behind the bat on Saturday. Elmer has been playing at third and had not caught a game for several weeks, but he was all to the good.

"Chester" Callahan, pitcher of the Good Will team, says he will bet $50 to $25 or $25 to $15 that the Good Will team can beat Bloomsdale by two runs.

The game played last Saturday between Good Will and Bloomsdale, which the latter won by the score of 8 to 7, was not arranged for a championship game but it was a schedule game. Manager Keating knew nothing about playing for the championship until he saw it in last week's Gazette. As Good Will beat them one game 16-9, and they won last Saturday's game, Manager Keating does not see how Bloomsdale can claim the championship.

New Cannery Blooming.

Fifty Italians—men, women and children—who are quartered on the premises, are caring for the tomatoes that are arriving at the Taylorsville cannery daily. The crop has not been a large one this season, but what there is are classed as of superior quality. Mr. Brock has the output of the establishment all sold, and had there been four times as many grown and brought to the place he would have found no difficulty in disposing of the goods. Frequent heavy rains and a cool summer has prevented the crop from ripening properly, hence the factory has not been running so steadily as it otherwise would have been. Next year it is hoped conditions will be different and that more farmers will grow the popular and productive vegetable. The refuse of the canning factory is used for making catsup, the material being barreled up, chemically treated and shipped to Mount Holly.

Standard Making Connections.

Within the next two or three weeks the subscribers of the Standard Telephone and Telegraph Company are to be able to talk to Philadelphia, through a trunk line arrangement with the Keystone Telephone Company, the independent company operating in the Quaker City. With this will come, also, increased facilities for conversing with different parts of Bucks county and it is thought that before December 1st connections will be established all over the county—something anticipated for the past several months by the management of the telephone corporations.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

The Second Ward Republican Club has disbanded

It is estimated that there are 2,500 Catholics in Bristol.

"Connie" Harkins had his foot crushed at the Eddington distillery last week.

Mrs. Barclay Wildman is critically ill at her home on Washington street, suffering with a cancer on the face.

W. Harry Smith's monster clearance sale is proving a big thing. Read what he has to say about it in another part of this paper.

Frank Bewley, of the Silbert Hotel, has received word that his brother, Charles Bewley, is at the point of death at his home in Lansdowne.

Mrs. Jennie Swangler has opened a boarding house, corner of Pond and Washington streets, at the location formerly occupied by Mrs. Sarah Heitzman.

Walter Cooper and Miss Ella Chamberlain, both of Bristol, were married in Philadelphia on last Saturday, September 20, by the Rev. N. N. Bounose.

The manufacturers of Bristol will make a display of their products at the Firemen's fair which will be held in the Bristol Auditorium from October 18 to November 1.

S. B. Ardrey & Sons have received contracts for putting a steam heating plant in the new opera house and a hot water plant in the Oneida Boat Club's new house at Burlington

A man who gave his name as Robert Entwistle, and his place of residence Bristol, was arrested in Philadelphia for intimidating a pedestrian in Frankford and was sent to the House of Correction for six months.

Court Onward, Foresters of America, intend making interior alterations to their hall, corner of Pond and Lafayette streets. The second story is to be remodled to answer the requirements of a banqueting room. The lodge room is on the third floor.

List of letters remaining in the Bristol postoffice, Wednesday, September 24: Wm. Bradley, Ernest Weller, Nellie Wallace, Helen Steel, Wm. Rue, Frank O'Neil, Mary Meehan, L. Kennor, Miss L. B. Johnson, Mrs. Frank Gilpin, Wm. H. Fisher and James DeLong.

An interesting entertainment will be given in the Presbyterian chapel about the middle of October. One of the features of the programme will be the appearance of Miss Helen Blaylock, a cultured elocutionist. Miss Blaylock is an instructor in the Philadelphia Divinity School and instructor and lecturer on the University Extension course.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hill, of New York City, who are on a wedding tour, were in Bristol on Saturday and made a pleasant call at the Gazette office. As a youngster, Arthur came to the Gazette office to learn the mysteries solved by Guttenberg. He now holds a lucrative position in one of the big publishing houses in New York.

Considerable complaint is made by residents in the Second ward on account of the depredations committed by a gang of small boys. In the neighborhood of Pond and Washington streets, it is declared several attempts have been made to fire stables, barns have been broken into and articles stolen and general acts of lawlessness committed.

R. G. Hyde, of Colwyn, Pa., by authority of the borough council, started today upon a contract to place numbers upon all the houses in Bristol in cases where numbers do not exist, and also to revise the numbers where there are errors. The action became necessary to conform with the postal regulations, prior to the inauguration of free mail delivery.

The Bristol Select Dancing Academy will open for the winter season on Saturday evening of this week in the newly renovated Pythian Hall. Prof. Parr's orchestra will furnish the music. Scholars' classes Wednesday evenings. A competent corps of instructors will be constantly in attendance and every style of ballroom dancing taught. Public dances every Saturday evening from 8 to 12 o'clock.

The twenty-fifth annual meeting, or "silver anniversary," of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Philadelphia North Presbytery, will be held on Thursday, October 2, 1902, at 10.15 a. m. and 2 p. m., in the Abington Presbyterian Church. Delegates and visitors will go from the Bristol church. Lunch will be provided by the ladies of the Abington church. The church can be reached by trolley cars from Bristol. It is close to Noble Station, near Willow Grove, on the Reading railroad.

Charles Thal, of Mechanicsville, was run over by the trolley at Cornwells on last Saturday and killed. The deceased was 56 years of age and attempted to walk across the track ahead of an approaching trolley car, when he tripped over the rail and fell. Before the motorman could slack the speed of the car the prostrate man was struck. The Coroner viewed the body at Rue's undertaking establishment and issued a certificate of accidental death. The body was sent to Byberry for burial.

Bill: "There's one thing phrenology can't do." Jill: "What's that?" Bill: "It can't tell just how long a man's been married by the bumps on his head."

A Big Deposit.

On Tuesday a deposit of $50,000 was made at the Farmers National Bank, at Bristol, by the Trenton and Bristol Street Railway Company. The funds will be used for the payment of construction work on the trolley road between Bristol and Morrisville.

Corona Strike Off.

The strike which occurred in the "tacking on" department at the Corona Kid Works has been settled by the unconditional surrender of the boys. Last Saturday about twenty took up their hammers and went to work and on Monday over fifty more followed suit. All were taken back with the exception of three or four ring-leaders, who will have to look elsewhere for work. The strike lasted a week.

Examinations for Letter Carriers.

A competitive examination under the rules of the United States Civil Service Commission of applicants for the positions of four letter carriers and two substitute carriers will be held in Bristol on next Saturday, September 29, commencing at 9 o'clock a m. No applications will be accepted after today. The examination will probably be held in the council chamber. About twenty applications have been received by Howard R Thornton, secretary of the Board of Examiners.

Death of Lockjaw Victim.

Lewis W. Mack died of tetanus at his home, corner of Washington and Pond streets, Bristol, on last Friday The deceased was twenty-five years old and had resided in Bristol for fourteen years. Several weeks ago he was vaccinated and while his arm was in an inflamed condition the wound caused by the inoculation was exposed while the young man was working in the wool room at Grundy's mill. It is presumed the dirt and germs in the wool infected the arm, causing lock-jaw to develop. The patient died in convulsions. The burial took place at Trenton.

Death of Joseph Maule.

Joseph Maule, aged 84 years, father of John C. Maule, of Bristol, died at his home in Philadelphia, on last Friday, the 19th inst., of general debility. The deceased was a well known member of the Orthodox Society of Friends, and had an extensive circle of acquaintances in Bucks county, and was a public speaker of considerable reputation. He was engaged in the leather business in Philadelphia. For sixty years he occupied the same building in which he served his apprenticeship. The funeral took place on Tuesday, interment being at the Friends' Southwestern grounds in Delaware county.

Surprise Party.

Accident at Steels' Mill.

The cylinder head on the big engine at Steel's mill blew out and cracked the cylinder yesterday morning and striking assistant engineer, James Burns, hurled him a distance of fifteen feet. Mr. Burns was not seriously injured, however, and escaped with a few painful contusions on the arm. This is the second time the cylinder head has blown out since the engine was installed about seven years ago. Very fortunately the firm has two smaller engines in reserve for an emergency like this, and during the morning the necessary connections were made and the mill resumed operations in the afternoon at the usual time. During the afternoon, however, the main drive belt broke and operations were again suspended.

An Incorrigible Infant.

On Tuesday night the Bristol station house contained the most youthful prisoner that was probably ever put behind the bars here. Tommie Rogers, the 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rogers, of Prospect street, was put in a cell and kept all night for running away with the horse and wagon belonging to L. T. Rodan, the plumber.

The team was standing in front of a house on Dorrance street and when the youngster came along he jumped in and took a drive about town. After an hour's pleasure an officer overhauled the boy down on Otter street. The parents claim their little son is incorrigible and confessed inability to manage him. The neighbors recite many tales of Tommy's vicious habits and it was with the consent of the parents that the boy was locked up. He seemed perfectly unconcerned when put behind the bars, but at about 10 o'clock a sobbing and moaning was heard from the region of confinement.

Elected a National Delegate.

At the annual session of the State Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., held at Pittsburg on September 16-17, Doron Green, of Bristol, was elected a national delegate from the eastern district of Pennsylvania to serve a term of three years. Mr. Green is a prominent member of the order and a charter member of Fidelity Council, No. 21, of Bristol, and has always taken a deep interest in the affairs of the local and State councils.

The honor which has been conferred upon him by the State council is of a high degree and has many pleasant feature attached to it. The next session of the National Council will be held in San Francisco in June next year, and the delegates have all their travelling and hotel expenses paid by the State body. Mr. Green's colleagues from the Eastern district will be Alexander M. DeHaven, Esq., and Stanley O. Large, both of Philadelphia.

Man With Two Families.

On Tuesday Officer Fallon, of the Bristol police force, and Detective James Shaffer, of Philadelphia, instituted a search here for a man named James McQuiggan, who was charged with deserting his wife in Philadelphia. He was finally located working at Steel's mill as a loom-fixer. McQuiggan has been a resident of Bristol for some time and was known here as James Craig. Here he was living with a woman whom he claimed to be his wife, by whom he had three children. For a while he lived with family No. 2 over Dr. Pursell's drug store on Mill street, but afterwards moved to Penn street. When the officers went to Steel's mill he evidently noticed their approach, and had knowledge of their errand, for he slipped out into Canal street through the entrance next the rolling mill and disappeared. It has been since learned that he went to his home on Penn street, changed his clothes, got some money and told wife No. 2 that he had to go away. The officers have not yet been able to trace him. Detective Shaffer claims he has been on McQuiggan's track for three years. Once he had him covered in Philadelphia but he was given the slip.

LOCAL MISCELLANY.

The new trolley connecting Lansdale with Norristown is completed and ready for the operation of a regular schedule.

Hon. and Mrs. Harman Yerkes, Miss Addie T. Buckman and Miss Helen Buckman have returned to Doylestown after an extended European trip.

E. T. Jenks & Son, of Lower Bensalem, loaded two cars of potatoes at the Doylestown station on Friday, purchased from farmers in the vicinity of Doylestown and shipped them to Philadelphia.

At a recent meeting of the board of directors of the Merchants' National Bank, of Quakertown, John D. Moyer, of Souderton, was elected cashier. Mr. Moyer has been associated with the Souderton National Bank for a period of over twenty years in different capacities.

The chestnut crop in this part of the State will be very large this year, and according to experts the nuts will be developed and free from worms. Abundant moisture, cool nights and slow development tend to make chestnuts fat and sweet and the same weather conditions are favorable to the full development of walnuts, hazel nuts, hickory nuts and butter nuts.

Captain John Gray is the oldest commander in continuous service in the Delaware River Navigation Co., running between Philadelphia and Trenton. He wears the fifteen years stripes, and is one of the most popular of men, as well as one of the ablest officers that ever trod the deck. He will undoubtedly have command of the new flyer which the company contemplates building. Any other appointment would seem like sacrilege, so highly esteemed is this capable commander of the John A. Warner.

The Baptists of Bucks county turned out in large numbers last Thursday to join in the celebration of the 100th anniversary of the building of the meeting house in Hilltown. The exercises were held at the Upper Church. There have been 13 pastors, Rev. John Thomas being the first and Rev. W. H. Vantoor the last, who had the exercises in charge on Thursday. The services began in the afternoon when Rev. E. C. Romine, of Philadelphia, read a sketch of the church and Rev. Russell H. Conwell delivered an address, in which he commended highly the work of the church in maintaing so noble a history for the past 100 years. Dr. Conwell was followed by Rev. Joseph A. Bennett, of Philadelphia.

The Delaware and Atlantic Telephone and Telegraph Company have two distinct telephone lines in operation in Attleboro. A 'phone on one line is located in the office of Henry Palmer's lumber yard, and a 'phone on the other line is located in Rumpf's mill. They are about five hundred yards apart, and should some one in Mr. Palmer's office desire to call up Rumpfs' mill he would first have to call up the central offices in Trenton, Philadelphia and Hulmeville before he could speak to Mr. Rumpf. This is similar to Attleboro's mail service before the trolley cars began acting as transportation agents for Uncle Sam. A letter posted in the Eden office for either Hulmeville or Langhorne was formerly sent via Philadelphia to reach either of those places.

Located a short distance north of Perkasie tunnel is an industry, the duplicate of which does not exist in this section of Pennsylvania, when its size and valuable machinery is fully considered. The Rock Hill Industrial Company, whose office is at North Wales and plant situated as above stated, have installed valuable machinery, including a 30-horse power Erie engine, dynamo, traveling cranes derricks, portable steel drills and many valuable pieces necessary to their business. At this plant there are huge pieces of steel, castings, cannon drilled and broken with dynamite into small sections, and then returned from whence they came to be reheated and recast. Pieces frequently weighing from 25 to 40 tons are handled here with ease with the use of their modern machinery. This plant has been placed in successful operation, at a cost of several thousand dollars and its force of a dozen men have steady employment.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Miss Bell Gallagher is visiting in Mauch Chunk.

Mrs. Eliza Bingham visited relatives in Trenton this week.

Philip Stackhouse, of Florence, N. J., was visiting friends in Bristol on Sunday.

Mrs. M. L. Frazier, of San Antonio, Texas, is the guest of Mrs. James Wright.

Miss Alice F. Dorrance left on Tuesday morning to visit friends at Red Bank, N.J.

Mrs. Stacy B. Pursell has been spending the week with her sister in Philadelphia.

Miss Maggie McGinley, of Pine street, left desterday to visit friends in Mauch Chunk.

John Harkins and Charles Callahan have been spending a week at the Allentown fair.

Rev. Dr. Alexander Alison and family returned last Saturday after a several weeks' vacation.

Mrs. Howard A. Turner, of Wilmington, Del., has been spending the week with relatives in Bristol.

Mrs. Fred Wallace, of Trenton, is spending the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Ahlee.

Edward Swain and family, who have been spending the summer at Spring Lake, returned to Bristol to-day.

Misses Margaret and May White, of West Philadelphia, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Hibbs, on Monday.

Miss Katie Mack, of Newark, Ohio, came to Bristol last week to attend the funeral of her brother, Lewis Mack, who died of lockjaw.

On last Saturday morning on her down trip the steamer Quaker City crashed into the side of the Mill street dock and cut the rotten wharf logs in two with her prow. The boat was not injured.

Free From Smallpox.

Once more Bristol is free from smallpox. After many months of struggling with the scourge the Board of Health, for the present at least, has rid the town of the scourge. It is to be hoped there will be no return of the disease. The best and surest preventative is for everyone to get vaccinated.

Bristol Real Estate Sales.

W. C. Peirce has sold for the owners the "stone row" on Lafayette street to Edward T. Steel & Co.

Peirce, Williams & DeGroot have sold one of the new houses on Pond street, above Jefferson avenue, to Wilmer J. Stradling and an adjoining house to Michael W. Ferry. Five of the new houses have been sold to William E. DeGroot.

Seventeen Snows Predicted.

David Mansides, Bristol's veteran astrologist has taken a squint at the harvest moon and booked his storms for the winter. Seventeen snows are in cold storage, according to the prophet David, and will be released during the season. The heaviest falls will occur between the 4th and 10th of February. The winter will be long and severe and full coal bins are recommended.

Robbery Yesterday Morning.

Shortly atre breakfast yesterday morning Mrs. Violet Johnson left her house on Wood street, Bristol, to visit a neighbor for a few moments, and during her absence a tramp went in the alleyway, to the back door, and evidently perceiving that no one was home ransacked the lower part of the house. Clothing and various articles were scattered about the floor, but the only things that have been missed are some small pieces of jewelry. Chief Saxton was informed but no trace of the thief has been found.

SPITE IS THE MOTIVE.

A FORMER BUCKS COUNTY EDITOR TAKES UP THE CASE OF RICE AND EDWARDS AND CRITICISES THEIR ACTION IN LEAVING THE REPUBLICAN PARTY.

(Special Correspondence of The Gazette.)

Philadelphia, Sep. 23.

Spite candidates.

Messrs. Rice and Edwards, late Republicans, nominees of the Democratic party in Bucks county for the State Legislature, Republicans signally honored in the past by the party which they have now forsaken while still serving in the offices to which they were elected by Republican votes.

They ought to resign their present offices when they accept the Demcratic nominations which have been handed them by Democratic bosses upon a Democratic salver. Why, there was even no convention held to nominate Rice and Edwards for places on the Demberatic ticket, and yet these two men profess to oppose bossism. Profess? Yes, that's the word. But do you remember the line—"Actions speak louder than words."

WHAT ARE THEIR MOTIVES?

When men do certain things one of the first questions is: "What are their motives?" What has induced Messrs. Rice and Edwards to flop from the Republican into the Democratic camp? Spite.

They hate certain Republican leaders more than they love the party to which they until recently swore allegiance. Had these same leaders endorsed the renomination of Rice and Edwards and brought about their nomination on the first Monday in the present month, do you believe that today these men would be ready to do their utmost to defeat the regularly nominated candidates of the Republican party? Not a bit of it. But they have tasted of public office and, like Oliver Twist, they cry for "More." They care not by whose votes they may be elected, only that they shall be sent back to the Legislature. Messrs. Rice and Edwards are honorable men. They have creditable records. They are honest men. These attributes have not been denied them until they turn upon those who have been their friends in the past and now seek to oppose their wishes by assisting the political enemies of these hitherto friends. They may still be honest men in believing that spite is more worthy a trait than loyalty and obedience to the will of the majority. But spite is not a worthy motive for any action. Every honorable man will admit that this is a fact. No self-respecting man will act from spite.

Messrs. Rice and Edwards, I am told, hold themselves before the community as reformers. And they have to seek Democratic votes to carry out their plans of reform! Funny, isn't it, when we remember that the Democratic party has never reformed anything. It has tried—but the victims of their efforts have always died from the effects of the operation. Let it be said of Senator Rice that his record in the Legislature stands in his favor, in that he voted and spoke as he believed his constituents wanted him to vote and speak. Sometimes he may have been mistaken as to what he thought was the popular demand, but if he was let us believe that he thought he was right. His party rewarded him by a renomination to the Senate and saw to it that he was elected. And, now, what gratitude he shows! Almost as much can be said concerning Capt. Edwards, who is now, also, arrayed against the "Bosses." And yet, it is not so very long ago since Capt. Edwards was generally regarded as the "Boss" of the Bucks county members of the Assembly. He certainly took care to watch over his colleagues day and night during the sessions at Harrisburg. Finally, one poor unfortunate got away from his custody at the critical moment and a vote was not recorded in the Senatorial balloting. The ongoings of that session are matters of public recollection and need not be recalled, except that sometimes it does matter who is the "Boss."

WHAT SHALL REPUBLICANS THINK?

The events of the past few weeks, as they have transpired in Bucks county, have attracted more than usual attention outside the county. Prior to the recent Republican convention it was reported that Senator Rice was so indifferent to his renomination that he announced that he would not make the least effort to seek the place for a third time. Capt. Edwards, so it was said, merely announced his candidacy and, "let it go at that." And, then, as soon as the convention was over and the great array of Republicans had named their ticket these two men discovered that they had not, as they thought, been properly treated and the Democratic fold was opened to them and they walked in and—well, they can hardly be said to be "making themselves at home" surrounded as they are by the dry fodder of Democracy which not long ago they declared to be impure food.

What shall Republicans think of such a course? Not so-called Republicans, but men of honest convictions, men who are Republicans because they believe in the principles of the Republican party? Rice and Edwards have had the admiration and the votes of thousands of Republicans who can not, who will not follow them into the Democratic quagmire where other recalcitrant Republicans have wandered in the past only to be swallowed up and to be politically forgotten. These thousands of Republicans in this phase of campaign that is forced upon them by two of their recent fellow Republicans, aided and abetted by ambitious and not overscrupulous Democrats, can not follow them and aid them with their votes. These thousands of Republicans may continue to approve of what Rice and Edwards have done in the past, but that is done for and stands as a matter of record Their present course can not continue to meet the approval on the part of those Republicans who in the past supported them at the polls. Messrs. Rice and Edwards have taken themselves out of the Republican party and have cast their lot with the Democracy. They have made their bed voluntarily. They must lie in it. No man can be part Republican and part Democrat. There are no political Centaurs. But there are a few political ingrates.

UNWISE PROPHETS—UNWISE NEWSPAPERS.

You will recall that during the Summer just ending a self-called prophet predicted the destruction of Atlantic City by a tidal wave. The exact date of its coming was announced by Tidal-wave Jones. His prediction was exploited in the newspapers to the extent of columns and columns, and some people were actually afraid that the prediction would be fulfilled. Of course, the day for the announced destruction of Atlantic city passed and the city-by-the-sea still stands. Now comes a Philadelphia clergyman who, in a sermon preached to his flock last Sunday, foretells, or thinks he does, the end of the world. He wisely, or otherwisely, puts twenty years between the time of his prediction and the time when it is to be fulfilled. By that time he may not be here to be disproved as a prophet. That is all I have to say, except that the newspapers are hard pressed for matter when they devote column after column to exploiting such predictions or any other of a similar character. There are some people who really believe such predictions and give themselves to worry when they should be devoting their efforts to shaping their lives that the "end," when it comes to them, as it will sooner or later, will find them prepared for it and for what is to follow.

Hence I will make no prediction as to the outcome of the present campaign in Bucks county, believing that the Republicans will be true to their party. The result will take care of itself.

J. CLINTON SELLERS.

A trolley mail service from Allentown to Quakertown has been granted and the same will go into effect next month. Lanark, Centre Valley, Coopersburg and Quakertown will be served. The star route between Quakertown and Allentown will serve only Locust Valley, Limeport and Standard after the new change goes into effect.

Harding Family Reunion.

The annual reunion of the descendants of Thomas and Rebecca Harding was held at the residence of Edward H. Hampton, of Edgewood, on Saturday, September 20th. Owing to the inclement weather not so many were present as on former occasions. About thirty-four sat down to dinner, which was served about 1 o'clock. The tables were nicely decorated with bouquets of asters and fairly overflowed with the good things of the season, prominent among which was an old-fashioned dainty, a fine young roast pig. The afternoon was spent in general conversation and games and about 6 o'clock all departed for their several homes, well pleased with the time they had and hoping to see each other at the same kind of a gathering one year hence.

Chance to Have Eyes Examined.

Before going out to the Inter-State Fair, stop and have your eyes examined by the Eye Specialists of the Sun Optical Mfg. Co. Geo. F. Applegate, Pres., F. C. Leaming, Treas., Corner State and Warren streets, Trenton. Here they have every facility, latest instruments and methods to give you satisfactory results. More, however, depends upon the knowledge and skill of the specialist who makes the examination. That "There is much in the 'know how' and experience" is proven by the large number of patients who have consulted them during the last 20 years and have received perfect comfort. No matter whom you have tried, if not satisfied, or if you have any eye trouble, consult the Sun Eye Specialists, as they make a specialty of hard cases upon whom others have failed. They have their own factory and can give you advantages in quality and prices.

MEAT ONCE A DAY.

Theory That Average Family's Food Is Too Heavy For Health.

Our mistakes in eating begin with our breakfast. In many families, perhaps in most, this meal commences with fruit and cereal, goes on to chops and potatoes, hot breads and coffee and concludes with griddlecakes and sirup. At noon, when a man's stomach is only beginning to rest from all this, he has a steak, more potato, bread and butter, coffee and pie, while at home his wife has a slice of cold meat, a cup of tea and a piece of cake. At night the two sit down to dinner, with roast beef, potatoes and bread and butter as the staples of the meal.

Now, no one but a woodchopper or a hunter can possibly eat meat—above all, red meat, such as beef and mutton—three times a day without inviting uric acid to come and take up its dwelling in his system. Nor can he eat white bread, potatoes and pastry day after day without inviting dyspepsia. One has only to let a doctor trace back these diseases to their source to be quite certain on these points.

But if we decide to give up these things, determine to have meat and potatoes only once a day and red meat only once a week; if we taboo pastry, the starchy vegetables, the white bread and heavy sweets, what have we left for the family meals? "Nothing," the distracted housewife will exclaim despairingly at first thought, but really the matter is not as difficult as it seems.

In planning the meals on this basis there is, first of all, chicken, which is invaluable, for it may be cooked in a dozen different ways and seem a new dish each time, and turkey, duck and goose as well. Then there are the white meats, lamb and veal; fish in its multitudinous forms; there are game in its season, vegetables and fruits, with numberless varieties of soups, and the simple sweets, which are made principally from milk and cream, and all forms of breads.—Harper's Bazar.

A PLEASING FRENCH TRAIT.

Love Between Brothers a Strongly Marked Characteristic.

One of the ways in which the close union of French family life shows itself is the great affection of brothers for each other. There is an intimacy between them in good and evil fortune which one does not find in other countries. A brother who takes a high position by his talents loses no opportunity to forward the interests of one of lesser ability or of no ability. He never treats the latter as a drag on him, and perhaps scarcely feels that he is one. Married brothers often like to live in the same house, on different floors, and [illegible] close proximity.

Most of the famous Frenchmen whom I knew had each a brother to whom he was devoted. Louis and Charles Blanc, though so dissimilar in appearance, tastes, disposition, and married to women who disliked each other, were, morally speaking, Siamese twins until death severed the bond. The same might be said of the Garnier-Pagès, of Jules Favre and his brother Leon, of Ernest and Arthur Picard, of Puech, the sculptor, and his brother the deputy. Paul and Hippolyte Flandrin, the painters, were known in their student days as the Siamese twins. It not infrequently happens that brothers go into literary partnership. Instances that occur to me are the Goncourts, the Rosnys, the Marguerittes. It would be impossible to discern the work of one of any of these brothers from that of another. What is very curious, each brother, as in the case of Charles and Louis Blanc, Ernest and Arthur Picard, Jules and Leon Favre, differed strikingly in every characteristic from the other. The dissimilarity of the Marguerittes is so great that one wonders how brothers could be so unlike. Alphonse Daudet was not a bit like his brother Ernest, an accomplished novelist also.—London News.

Not Even a Hack.

In the early days of his journalistic career Frank R. Stockton was standing with a group of newspaper men, listening to the eloquence of one of their number, who on the strength of some small authority was giving his views on "higher journalism" in a pompous and bombastic manner.

At the close of a sonorous period he paused for breath, when Stockton, speaking for the first time, ventured mildly to disagree with the opinion expressed.

"Who are you to dispute me?" blazed the great man. "Why, you are only a literary hack!"

"Not even that," responded Stockton meekly. "I'm only a coupe."

The Souls He Saved.

The pastor called at a Columbus home the other day, where little Freddie, a bright youngster, is a great pet. Freddie had previously heard his mother say that the pastor was very successful in saving souls.

During a pause in the conversation Freddie, who was sitting on the pastor's knee, asked:

"Do you save souls?"

"Yes, Freddie," replied the man of the cloth.

"Will you tell me," went on Freddie seriously, "how many souls you got saved up?"—Ohio State Journal.

The Inventor of the Match.

The first match was the product of [illegible] John Frederick Komerer, who early in the nineteenth century was imprisoned in the penitentiary at Hohenasperg, in Germany. He invented the lucifer match while in his gloomy dungeon. The German government forbade the manufacture of matches on the ground of public policy, because some children playing with them had caused a fire. Komerer was ruined by Viennese competition when he was released from prison and died a pauper. Up to 1862 the Vienna manufacturers controlled the match business of the entire world.

From Real Life.

Teacher—Evil communications corrupt good manners. Now, Johnny, can you understand what that means?

Johnny—Yes'm. For instance, pa got a communication from ma's dressmaker this morning that made him swear.—Philadelphia Press.

A Pert Reminder.

Little Bertie had been taught not to ask for anything at meals. One day poor Bertie had been forgotten, when he pathetically inquired, "Do little boys get to heaven when they are starved to death?"—London Tit-Bits.

The gravedigger rises to remark that every man finds himself in a hole sooner or later.—Philadelphia Record.

The next hardest thing to getting up in the world is to keep from getting down.

HE GOT THE GOODS.

A Business Deal Between Potter Palmer and A. T. Stewart.

"At the time of the civil war," said an old merchant, "Potter Palmer was in the dry goods business in Chicago, and Levi Z. Leiter and Marshall Field were working for him. Palmer wasn't so well known, but he had a good reputation in the trade, and he didn't have to introduce himself when he called on old A. T. Stewart to buy some goods. After some dickering they agreed upon the price, and Palmer calmly said that he would take about $100,000 worth. It was a little larger bill than Stewart exactly cared to sell young Palmer on credit, but he concluded to make the deal and told him to come in the next morning and arrange some final details. That night some big war news came, and it didn't require any declaration by the government to inform every dry goods man in the country that the price of goods would take a big spurt up. Stewart recognized it as soon as he had the news, and he immediately thought of Palmer. He also thought of the big bill of goods Palmer had bought of him. It didn't particularly tickle Stewart, that thought didn't. But it required only a few scratches of his red head to fix things to his satisfaction. He would simply tell Palmer that he was sorry, but that he didn't feel that he could sell such a big bill on credit, and as he knew that Palmer couldn't raise the cash immediately, why, that would end it, and the sale would be off. Well, young Palmer called early, and Stewart greeted him in his very abruptest manner, telling him how sorry he was, etc., but really he didn't think it wise business to extend credit for such an amount.

"'Just how much does the bill come to?' said young Palmer, seemingly sorrowful-like.

"'Just $110,000,' Stewart replied, and then he straightway gulped for breath as young Palmer drew an immense pocketbook from his inside vest pocket and, opening it, counted out 110 thousand dollar bills and, laying them quietly on Stewart's desk, said: 'If you will kindly count them and give me a receipt, I'll be obliged, as I must take the next train home. Ship the goods soon as you can, and when you're out our way drop in. Always glad to see our friends.'"—New York Times.

AROUND THE HOUSE.

If marks and stains are on papered walls, try French chalk on a piece of dry bread gently rubbed in.

To keep hardwood floors smooth and clean rub them with waste and warm paraffin oil and polish with dry waste.

Muslin curtains may be rendered less inflammable by steeping them in alum water—two ounces of alum to one gallon of water.

To clean mirrors dip a cloth in methylated spirits and rub on the mirror. Allow it to dry on before polishing with a soft duster.

Galvanized iron pails for drinking water should not be used. The zinc coating is rapidly acted upon by the water, forming a poisonous oxide of zinc.

Make a splendid furniture polish by taking a wineglassful of olive oil, one of vinegar and two tablespoonfuls of alcohol, apply with a soft cloth and polish with flannel.

Rugs, mats or carpets can be cleaned thoroughly by generously sprinkling on them yellow cornmeal that has been well dampened in clean soapsuds or weak ammonia water. Sweep off in a few minutes.

Sensatory Transmission.

It has been found that sensation is not absolutely instantaneous, but that a very minute time elapses as it travels along the nerves. Therefore, if a person put his finger to a heated iron or in the blaze of a candle there is a certain almost inconceivably small space of time, say the one-thousandth part of a second, before the brain knows of the burn. Now, suppose a man with an arm long enough to reach the sun. From the known rate of sensatory transmission that man would have to live more than 100 years after touching the great luminary before he would know that his fingers had been scorched!

Showed It Clearly.

A man who was called on to address a Sunday school in a Pennsylvania town took the familiar theme of the children who mocked Elijah on his journey to Bethel—how the youngsters taunted the poor old prophet, and how they were punished when the two she bears came out of the wood and ate forty-two of them. "And now, children," said the speaker, wishing to learn if his talk had produced any moral effect, "what does this story show?"

"Please, sir," came from a little girl well down in front, "it shows how many children two she bears can hold!"

A Difficult Case.

First Lawyer—How did you come out in settling up old Gotrox's estate?

Second Lawyer—It was a hard struggle.

"No?"

"Yes; I had hard work to keep the heirs from getting part of the estate."—Ohio State Journal.

TWO ODD FISHES.

The Changeable Pink Hind and the Rainbow Hued Parrot Fish.

The clear, limpid waters that surround Bermuda and the West Indies lie above coral reefs covered with plants and animals, many of which are brilliant in color as a rainbow. They look like glimpses of fairyland, and as your eye wanders from one wonder to another you catch yourself striving to peek just around some corner into a strange nook, half hoping to see a bevy of mermen and mermaids sporting and playing within the crannies. Here is a patch of pale green sea lettuce, there a group of great purple sea fans, yonder some golden corals standing out like a shelf or branching like a tree, while among them all swim lovely fishes that take the place of the fairies that should dwell in this magic land and fascinate you by their gorgeous colors and their graceful, wavy motions.

There is a great green "parrot fish," as brilliant in color as his namesake the bird, showing himself boldly and swimming along slowly, secure from any assault. His scales are green as the fresh grass of springtime, and each one is bordered by a pale blown line. His fins are pink, and the end of the tail is banded with nearly every color of the rainbow. He is showy, but this showiness serves him a good purpose. His flesh is bitter and poisonous to man and probably so to other fishes as well, and they let him well alone, for they can recognize him afar off, thanks to his gaudy dress.

Underneath the parrot, lying on the bottom, is a "pink hind." You notice him, and as the parrot passes over him he suddenly changes to bright scarlet and as quickly resumes his former faint color. Had the parrot been looking for his dinner and thought the hind would make a good first course this sudden change of color might have scared him off, just as the sudden bristling of a cat makes a dog change his mind. When the hind is disturbed at night, he gives out flashes of light to startle the intruder and send him away in a fright.—Professor C. L. Bristol in St. Nicholas.

THE HOLY CITY.

Jerusalem Still Resembles a Great Fortress of Middle Ages.

Jerusalem is literally "builded upon its own heap." Below the houses, courts and paved streets of the present unkempt city are the distinguishable remains of eight older cities—those of Solomon, Nehemiah, Herod, Hadrian, Constantine, Omar, Godfrey, Saladin, Suleman—writes Walter Williams from the Holy City to his paper in Columbia, Mo.

Jerusalem has been besieged twenty-seven times, a record of vicissitude unparalleled in the history of the world's cities. It has been burned, sacked, razed to the ground, its inhabitants of every faith put to the sword, all the woes uttered by its own prophets against it have come to pass, yet Jerusalem still resembles a great fortress of the middle ages. Seen from the Mount of Olives, its massive gray walls, its flat roofed houses, its mosques and churches with their conspicuous towers and minarets, present a marvelous picture, beautiful, sublime, unfading, from the picture gallery of the mind.

The city itself has narrow, dirty streets. The water supply for its 70,000 people comes in a four inch pipe. The open courts are few and small, and the houses are bunched together with no regard for room or cleanliness. Some houses are underground and others on top of the high inclosing walls. The people are fanatical, ignorant, selfish. There is much to detract from the ideal city, but despite all this and more Jerusalem from the Mount of Olives is the same in its essential details, the same in the framework of its setting, the same in fascinating suggestion, as the Jerusalem of which David sang and over which Jesus wept.

Points About a Good Horse.

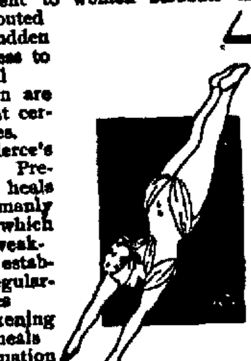

There are some points which are valuable in horses of every description. The head should be proportionately large and well set on. The lower jawbones should be sufficiently far apart to enable the head to form an angle with the neck, which gives it free motion and a graceful carriage and prevents it bearing too heavily on the hand. The eye should be large, a little prominent, and the eyelids fine and thin. The ear should be small and erect and quick in motion. The lop ear indicates dullness and stubbornness. When too far back, there is a disposition to mischief.

Good Advice.

The most miserable beings in the world are those suffering from Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint. More than seventy-five per cent of the people in the United States are afflicted with these two diseases and their effects: such as sour stomach, sick headache, habitual costiveness, palpitation of the heart, heartburn, water brash, gnawing and burning pains at the pit of the stomach, yellow skin, coated tongue and disagreeable taste in the mouth, coming up of food after eating, low spirits, etc. Go to your druggist and get a bottle of August Flower for 75 cents. Two doses will relieve you. Try it. Get Green's Special Almanac. At J. Edward Wright's and Emlen Martin's drug stores, Bristol, and E. E. Johnson's, Tullytown.

A WOMAN'S RISK

As a trapeze performer is greater than a man's. She must have a man's courage and a man's muscle to succeed. But she must also work under conditions of which a man knows nothing. Many an accident to women acrobats must be attributed to the sudden weakness to which all women are subject at certain times.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription heals the womanly diseases which cause weakness. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"With pleasure I write to-day in praise of Dr. Pierce and his medicines," says Mrs Mary Conway, of Appleton, Lawrence Co., Tenn. "Was troubled with female disease, the back of my head hurt me so I could not lie in bed and I would have to sit up, and then I would have such pains from my waist down I could scarcely raise up. My feet and hands would feel almost like ice. Since taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription I can sleep well all night. Could hardly drag around before I took your medicine, and now can do my housework and help my husband in the field. Words cannot express the thanks I owe to Dr. Pierce."

Weak and sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, containing more than a thousand large pages, is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the cloth-bound volume, or only 21 stamps for the book in paper covers. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

A Certain Cure for Dysentery and Diarrhoea.

"Some years ago I was one of a party that intended making a long bicycle trip," says F. L. Taylor, of New Albany, Bradford county, Pa. "I was taken suddenly with diarrhoea, and was about to give up the trip, when editor Ward, of the Laceyville Messenger, suggested that I take a dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I purchased a bottle and took two doses, one before starting and one on the route. I made the trip successfully, and never felt any ill effect. Again last summer I was almost completely run down with an attack of dysentery. I bought a bottle of this same remedy, and this time one dose cured me." For sale by Emlen Martin.

Take Care of the Stomach.

The man or woman whose digestion is perfect and whose stomach performs its every function is never sick. Kodol cleanses, purifies and sweetens the stomach and cures positively and permanently all stomach troubles, indigestion and dyspepsia. It is the wonderful reconstructive tonic that is making so many sick people well and weak people strong by conveying to their bodies all of the nourishment in the food they eat. Rev. J. H. Holladay, of Holladay, Miss., writes: Kodol has cured me. I consider it the best remedy I ever used for dyspepsia and stomach troubles. I was given up by physicians. Kodol saved my life. Take it after meals. J. Edward Wright, Central Pharmacy, 303 Mill street.

Beware the Knife.

No profession has advanced more rapidly of late than surgery, but it should not be used except where absolutely necessary. In cases of piles for example, it is seldom needed. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cures quickly and permanently. Unequalled for cuts, burns, bruises, wounds, skin diseases. Accept no counterfeits. "I was so troubled with bleeding piles that I lost much blood and strength," says J. C. Phillips, Paris, Ill., "DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured me in a short time." Soothes and heals. J. Edward Wright, Central Pharmacy, 303 Mill street.

Water Cure for Chronic Constipation.

Take two cups of hot water half an hour before each meal and just before going to bed, also a drink of water, hot or cold, about two hours after each meal. Take lots of outdoor exercise—walk, ride, drive. Make a regular habit of this and in many cases chronic constipation may be cured without the use of any medicine. When a purgative is required take something mild and gentle like Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. For sale by Emlen Martin.

A Sad Disappointment.

Ineffective liver medicine is a disappointment, but you don't want to purge, strain and break the glands of the stomach and bowels. DeWitt's Little Early Risers never disappoint. They cleanse the system of all poison and putrid matter and do it so gently that one enjoys the pleasant effects. They are a tonic to the liver. Cure biliousness, torpid liver and prevent fever. J. Edward Wright, Central Pharmacy, 303 Mill street.

Lingering Summer Colds.

Don't let a cold run at this season. Summer colds are the hardest kind to cure and if neglected may linger along for months. A long siege like this will pull down the strongest constitution. One Minute Cough Cure will break up the attack at once. Safe, sure, acts at once. Cures coughs, colds, croup, bronchitis, all throat and lung troubles. The children like it. J. Edward Wright, Central Pharmacy, 303 Mill street.

A Communication.

Mr. Editor:—Allow me to speak a few words in favor of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I suffered for three years with the bronchitis and could not sleep at nights. I tried several doctors and various patent medicines, but could get nothing to give me any relief until my wife got a bottle of this valuable medicine, which has completely relieved me.—W. S. Brockman, Bagnell, Mo. This remedy is for sale by Emlen Martin.

Putnam Fadeless Dyes do not spot, streak or give your goods an unevenly dyed appearance. Sold by Serrill Douglass, John K. Young.

Came Near Being a Cripple.

Josh Westhafer, of Loogootee, Ind., is a poor man, but he says he would not be without Chamberlain's Pain Balm if it cost five dollars a bottle, for it saved him from being a cripple. No external application is equal to this liniment for stiff and swollen joints, contracted muscles, stiff neck, sprains and rheumatic and muscular pains. It has also cured numerous cases of partial paralysis. It is for sale by Emlen Martin.

For a bad taste in the mouth take Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. For sale by Emlen Martin.

Nothing Like Oil.

"In dealing with man, remember that a spoonful of oil will go farther than a gallon of vinegar." The same may be said of children. There is nothing so good for children as the old-fashioned castor oil. However much they may abhor it, it is their best medicine for disorders of the bowels. In the more severe cases of diarrhoea and dysentery, however, Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy should be given after the oil operates, and a quick cure is sure to follow. For sale by Emlen Martin.
